MEET THE ALASKA STRING BAND
A HOME GROWN FAMILY
IN THE LAND OF THE MIDNIGHT SUN

Hailing from Alaska's capital city of Juneau, the Zahasky family, also recognized internationally as the Alaska String Band makes their home on the last frontier and is the subject of much curiosity and inspiration for all those who happen to be fortunate to see one of their shows. An inside note will reveal Paul and Melissa, husband and wife of 27 years; and their three children - Laura 20, son Quinn 17 and daughter Abigail at age 13. When not out recreating in the magnificent wilderness setting of their remote home town, this family occupies themselves by entertaining visitors who journey north to Alaska. On board a forty-foot bus, the Alaska String Band ventures further abroad touring Canada and the lower forty-eight states bringing their fascinating Southeast Alaska Odyssey Show to thousands.

"The last event in which I served as keynote speaker had really good entertainment; but these folks are ALASKA good. The Alaska String Band Rocks!"Sarah Palin -- former governor of the state of Alaska.
